affairs and the Union. In the evening a grand Conumentary II took place. A Negro stampede in Mexico had been discovered, at La Grange. The Negroes were being killed by the Texas Rangers. They killed eight men at Laredo. The Cotton crop of Texas never looked better than now.

From Havana--The Principle Insurrection Reported a Hoax.

CHARLESTON, Wednesday, July 27. The schooner Seagull arrived at Savannah yesterday, having left Havana on the 17th inst. The health of the city was good; but two Cholera cases had been reported. The news of the insurrection in Cuba had been received at Havana, when it was received at Havana it created great excitement, which however soon died away.

[This statement is probably incorrect. The letter of our Havana Correspondent of the same date, makes no mention of the report being considered a hoax.]

Rutgers College Commencement.
Commencement of the Newark Daily Advertiser

The exercises preliminary to the twenty-sixth annual commencement of Rutgers College were held at the College Chapel, Wednesday, July 22. Dr. H. H. Hinghyusen delivered the Baccalaureate address to the class about to graduate.

To-day at 11 o'clock the Alumni met, and after transacting their ordinary business proceeded to the College Chapel, where Walter Kuehler, Esq., of Jersey City, delivered the annual oration. The Literary Societies celebrated their anniversary in their respective halls at 2 P. M. After their exercises were concluded, a procession was formed of the College Campus and marched to the Church, preceded by Bowdoin's Band.

George Wm. Brown, Esq. of Maryland, was the Orator. He spoke very touchingly of the reminiscences aroused by revisiting the scenes of College days after an absence of twenty-years of changes that had taken place in the corps of instructors.

tors, among his classmates and fellow-students, the improvements made during that time in the town and about the College. He there said that during the past year it had been his good fortune to spend sometime in traveling through Europe, and he proposed to-day to give us some of the impressions an American visiting Europe for the first time. I in process to civilize the Indians, and the United States and Government of Europe are to have our own architecture—our own superiority of Europe to us in the fine arts—especially of music, painting, sculpture and architecture. On the last topic he observed that public buildings here were erected under the direction of a few men, and that the business of architecture—that they were economical men, consequently they were not artists. He said that the beauty of the architecture of many a structure, the design of the interior of many a building, the enormous frugality of this building committee. The orator, however, thought that better days would be about to dawn upon us, and that America would yet be the seat of the arts and sciences, and the land of religion and liberty. He saw signs of this change.

In the evening the Junior Exhibition was held.
